SAVANNAH RIVER REMEDIATION AWARDS HBCU PROCUREMENT PACKAGE TO PAINE COLLEGE

Savannah River Remediation (SRR) and Paine College are developing a software program that will collect and share information encountered during liquid waste operations at the Savannah River Site (SRS) with other U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) sites.

SRR recently awarded Paine College a procurement package totaling $43,000 to develop the software program that will help SRR and subcontractors at other DOE sites better document issues encountered on similar tasks and how they have successfully handled them.

This award is SRR’s first Historically Black College and Universities & Minority Institutions (HBCU/MI) procurement package. SRR established this HBCU/MI initiative as one of its small business goals.

“We recognize the expertise and innovation that students and faculty can offer,” Olson said. “This is a win-win situation for both SRR and Paine College.”
